

If the data is spherical then with hierarchical clustering we will end up with some clusters with  $k$ -means. (If we used centroids to find distance) But we will have worse complexity!

Measuring Distance between Two Clusters